A Global Spotlight for You

Sponsor an event where markets are moulded, and connections turn into contracts. This is where you'll capture attention and build relationships that deliver results, raising global awareness of your business and positioning it as a market leader.

The worldwide battery market is expected to grow at a compounded annual growth rate of 15.8% from 2023 to 2030 to reach USD 329.84 billion by 2030. This is why over 300 senior decision-makers will be networking and negotiating at this event, including miners, battery manufacturers, automotive companies, investors, technology providers, government officials, expert analysts and the whole supply chain.

Now's the time to get your name front and centre at the world's most influential battery raw materials event.

More eyes on you

With a growing and highly senior audience, this world-class event has proved so successful that it's increasing in size—to accommodate increased demand from suppliers eager to access the lucrative battery raw materials supply chain.

For you, that means more brand exposure, more opportunities for audience engagement and more space for the business meetings that matter. This will be a large annual gathering of buyers, policy makers and senior decision makers across the entire value chain. It's an event you need to be at—and be seen at.
